A book that explores the problems of our ever growing worldwide population while exposing the reader to one of the most common problem: to look for oneself. A good way to travel and think about our life purpose.

A story about the fragility of both our planet and ourselves Sunk low by grief and alcohol William is tasked with taking a mysterious blue stone from London to Istanbul. Caught up in a whirlwind of real world events, he finds himself on a dangerous journey that takes him not only to Mount Sinai in Egypt but also deep into the meaning of his own life, and into the meaning of life itself.
